

PROMPTS FOR BRAINWORK MADE EASY

These conversation starters can be used in team meetings, refreshers or as follow-up activities after an introductory workshop.

- From your preference, do you connect with the descriptors in the first column?
- From your preference, have you ever been called something from the fourth column?
- Looking at your non-preference, have you ever used words in the fourth column to describe someone else?
- Looking at your non-preference, can you see the descriptors in the first column show up in your colleagues who are different from you? How do these qualities add value to your work?
- Review the second column of your preference. Which one of these tactics could you practice?
- Review the second column of your non-preferences. Which one of these tactics could you practice?